Music for a Lifetime!!

Carrie Li

For the academic years 2011—2013 I was fortunate enough to be awarded a SEF Scholarship my junior and senior years of high school. Through out my musical education, I developed skills in classical piano, guitar and music theory.

After graduating I attended the University of Pennsylvania to study architecture. Having a strong background in music helped me bring a unique perspective to the world of design. Understanding rhythms and melodies helped translate into understanding structural dimensions and unique spatial possibilities.

While pursuing my college education, I kept my love for music alive. I played in symphony music trios, the university band, and served as the piano accompanist for multiple singing groups. In my second year I began singing with the university's premier women's vocal ensemble and helped conduct songs and direct shows. The vocal ensemble performed at various events across the USA and in 2015 our group sang for Pres. Obama's Christmas Party in Washington, D.C.

Moreover, music has given me so much joy in my personal life. When spending time with friends and family, playing a song or two has the effect of bringing people together and putting a smile on everyone's face. Over the years I have also been able to bring music into the lives of nursing and retirement home residents as well as young children.

SEF played a major role in helping me become the musician I am and I will always be grateful for their support and continued encouragement.

THANK YOU!!
